

MONTHLY INTELLIGENCE · MAY 2026

Content Performance Report

Nick Turner · CEO, Dreamdata · Prepared by The Right Click Projects

A monthly analysis of LinkedIn content performance, audience growth, and organic inbound activity — built to help Nick understand what's working and why.

THE MONTH IN NUMBERS

May by the Numbers

295.6K

Total Impressions

↑ 16.8% vs. prior month

2,917

Social Engagements

Reactions, comments, saves & reposts

716

New Followers

Total audience: 10,513 (↑ 6.5%)

91.6%

Reach from Posts

Not search. Not recommendations. The content is driving discovery.

Three Posts. One Pattern.

Bold takes, real stakes, no hedging. The top three posts of May share the same DNA and together they account for the majority of the month's reach and engagement.

96,000 Impressions · 189 Engagements

"Handing your entire marketing function to GTM engineers is not a wise decision right now. Code is deterministic, but buyers are still psychological."

A contrarian angle in a market flooded with AI automation hype , landed hard with senior marketing leaders.

90,000 Impressions · 737 Engagements ← Highest of the Month

"Welcome to the worst scenario of over-automating your marketing department."

Timed to a viral Reddit thread. Timing + point of view = distribution.
Generated multiple inbound DMs on its own.

32,000 Impressions · 607 Engagements · 412 Saves

"There is absolute nonsense going on right now with website traffic KPIs in B2B marketing."

High saves signal people are bookmarking this for reference , not just reacting in the moment.

Not Every Post Is Measured in Impressions

A Story Worth Noting

We wrote about Nick's 25 years in construction , a chapter most people in his current world don't know about. The post didn't go viral. But a client who knows Nick from last 25 years reached out after reading it. He said it meant something to him.

That's what content authority actually builds, not just reach, but recognition. The kind where someone recognizes you and remembers you after such a long time also.

This Month's DMs

"This worked well!" — Alec Paul, after sharing the over-automating post

"What you talk about is 100% in alignment with a book I'm writing on the customer journey." — Tim Schrider, Director of Marketing

"Loving the posts you're doing on LinkedIn lately. I'd love to swap war stories about what we're seeing in SEO/AI." — Matthew Proctor, CEO

"Read your post about 73 investors and finding the right partners — I'd love to connect." — Maleeha Tariq, GTM Consultant

Who's Paying Attention

The audience engaging with Nick's content is not random. These are the exact decision-makers Dreamdata sells to, marketing leaders and founders at B2B companies who care about attribution, pipeline, and measurement.

✅ Bottom Line for May: 295K impressions, 716 new followers, and a stream of inbound conversations, all from organic content. No ads. No outreach. Just the right point of view, published consistently.

